I. Foreward

The By-laws and Procedures Handbook of the State University of New York University Faculty Senate (UFS) is meant to be a reference and repository of policies, procedures, rules and regulations and precedent’s of behavior which are foundational to the structure and operation of the State-wide faculty governance body of the State-operated colleges/universities legally referred to as the SUNY University Faculty Senate. It is the hope of the leadership of the University Senate that you will find this document to be helpful to your understanding of our governance body and your functioning as a Senator, Alternate Senator, Campus Governance Leader or committee member or member of the faculty/staff.

History
The first By-laws and Procedures Handbook of the UFS was developed by Senator Ron Sarner of SUNYIT in 1991. This first edition was an exceptional effort by Professor Sarner and his colleagues to organize the documents, procedures and practices of the University Faculty Senate into a central volume, easily available to faculty interested in UFS activities and responsibilities. This first document served the Senate well until 1994, when the Task Force on By-laws Revisions presented its report for adoption in 1994. After the adoption of those By-laws the Senate Executive Committee decided to appoint a Senate Procedures Taskforce to codify and update the procedures and practices that had evolved over the years into a new and enlarged By-laws and Procedures Handbook. Karen Markoe (Maritime College) and Carl Wiezalis (Upstate Medical University) were asked to Co-chair the 1994-95 Senate Procedures Task Force. This Task Force spent the academic year bringing together a disparate body of information to the University Faculty Senate that extended beyond procedures and By-laws to include a brief history of the Senate; guidelines for officers, member and committee chairs; lists of former officers; publication; and recipients of Senate awards. For the first time we had a single publication that provided a thorough introduction and overview to the University Faculty Senate. Much of the work of this Task Force was accomplished by several very dedicated Task Force members who spent countless hours, days and months probing the dusty archives of SUNY to organize the evolutional benchmarks which characterize the University Faculty Senate. The members of the 1994 Task Force deserve our grateful appreciation for making a significant contribution to the organization, vitality and institutional memory of the University Faculty Senate.

The 1994 edition of the UFS By-laws and Procedures Handbook served the organization very well for over a decade. But in 2005 the Executive Committee of the Senate decided it was time to revisit the Handbook with an eye on correcting weakness and omissions. Consequently, the Governance Committee under Chair Ron Sarner, was asked to undertake a complete review, modification and updating of the document. After 1.5 years of assiduous effort the current edition, the third edition, is now complete (Spring 2007). I offer my sincere thanks to the Governance Committee for diligently carrying this revision to completion.

The Executive Committee decided to segregate the By-laws review aspect of the Handbook from the work of the Governance Committee and charge a separate committee to address that complex and time-consuming effort. While Parliamentarian Edward Alfonsin (Emeritus-Potsdam) was initially appointed Chair of the By-laws Committee in 2005, Ed insisted that all three members on the committee shared the work and responsibilities associated with the By-laws revisions. Therefore, we concede and sincerely thank all three of the By-laws Committee Tri-chairs, Edward Alfonsin, Robert Fluck (Upstate Medical University) and William Baumer (University at Buffalo). The 2007 By-laws were ratified after a second reading a the Winter Plenary of the UFS at Stony Brook University in January 2007.

We would be remiss if we did not recognize and thank Carol Donato, Executive Assistant of the University Faculty Senate who provides exceptional support for all of the organizational and committee work of the UFS. She is a full partner in the day-to-day work of the Senate. The UFS would be diminished without her loyal and dedicated investment in our work and in our aspirations.

The Governance Committee, the By-laws Committee and the Executive Committee hope that the faculty and staff will find the By-laws and Procedures Handbook to be a valuable reference for the operation of the Senate and a useful template for consideration at the campus level as well.

I would like to add my personal appreciation to the many hands and minds that came together over the last several months to refine an already excellent reference volume. Organizational effectiveness begins with guiding documents which illuminate our pathway to successful governance performance. The new By-laws and Procedures Handbook (3rd edition) will help to make that pathway more clear than ever.

II. Introduction

A. History of the Senate

The University Faculty Senate held its first meeting in Albany on December 15, 1953, five years after SUNY was founded. The idea for a university-wide faculty governance organization was raised in 1950 at the State Teachers College Faculties Association and a committee chaired by Professor J. Murdock Dawley from the Fredonia campus was given the task of exploring the possibility of forming such an organization. The following year, on December 7, 1951, at the Paris Hotel in New York City, representatives from 29 SUNY units formed a committee to write a constitution. On March 19, 1953, the document was completed and submitted to the SUNY campuses for ratification. After three-quarters of the campuses ratified the constitution, the SUNY Board of Trustees approved the creation of the University Faculty Senate on October 8, 1953, and shortly thereafter, the Senate met. The original language called for the President of SUNY (now the Chancellor) to be the presiding officer of the Senate, with the body electing its own Vice Chair and Secretary. At this historic first meeting, the President of SUNY, William Carlson, presided; J. Murdock Dawley was elected Vice Chair, and Loren Petty (Cornell Agriculture) was elected Secretary.

Each campus had equal representation and one vote in the Senate's formative stage, but in short order a proportional system of representation was adopted. A committee structure was utilized, with the number of committees changing over the years. Currently there are six standing committees.

The Faculty Senate serves as a resource on governance for the University. It serves as a deliberative body on educational policies for the SUNY system. In this capacity it issues publications including proceedings, directories, and handbooks on matters such as budget, program revision, and presidential searches. It serves as a repository for documents and for tapes of Plenary Sessions.

B. Purpose

The Policies of the Board of Trustees (Article VII. Title A §1, 2) state:

§1. Name. There shall be a University Faculty Senate of State University of New York.

§2. Purposes. The senate shall be the official agency through which the University Faculty engages in the governance of the University. The Senate shall be concerned with effective educational policies and other professional matters within the University.

C. Organization

1. Organization of the Senate

Representation on the Senate is by elected Senators and alternates from the four University Centers, the five Health Science Centers and Colleges, the thirteen Colleges of Arts and Science, the five upstate Colleges of Technology, and the nine Specialized and Statutory Colleges. The number of Senators from each campus is determined by a weighted formula.

As of 2006 there were 48 Senators. The term is for three years with a two term maximum; after an intervening term, one may seek additional term(s). Alternate Senators are also elected to substitute for the elected Senator when the need arises. The Chancellor appoints two Senators, plus Alternates, from System Administration. Senate seats are on a cycle with approximately one-third of the seats up for election each year. The Senate also includes designated observers from principal SUNY constituent groups.
Committee and shall serve for terms of one year commencing July 1st of each year. The Bylaws would otherwise require the Executive Committee, specified as a standing committee previously in both Bylaws VIII.A and Policies D.2, to appoint itself and its chair, contravening several other provisions of the Bylaws. This meets the Policies VII.E requirement that the Bylaws be consistent with the Policies [cf. the first sentence of Bylaws XIII.A].

Article XIII A, 1st sentence only, replicates Title E § 1.

Article XIII B replicates Title F § 1.

These Bylaws incorporate all amendments adopted by the University Faculty Senate at its January 2007 Plenary Meeting.

2. Standing Committee Structure

The charges of the Standing committees are reviewed annually at the Fall Planning Meeting. Members of standing committees (except the Executive Committee), including the Chairs, are selected by the Executive Committee and serve one-year terms. Reappointment is a common practice, with three years being the usual period of service.

a. Executive Committee

The Senate's Executive Committee is chaired by the President of the Senate. Other members include the Vice-President/Secretary and five elected Senators, chosen in accord with Article VIII, Section B of the Senate's By-Laws, and one Senator from System Administration chosen by the Chancellor. The Immediate Past President and Vice-President/Secretary serve as ex-officio, non-voting members for one term of two years.

The Executive Committee prepares the Senate's agenda, acts for the Senate (whenever possible) if the Senate is not in session, reacts to items submitted by the Chancellor, individual campuses and such other responsibilities that are in the best interests of the Senate, It meets approximately seven times a year.

b. Governance Committee

The Committee shall concern itself with University-wide governance and shall provide guidance on matters of campus governance. The Committee shall interact with local governance leaders of the University.

c. Graduate Academic Programs and Research Committee

The Committee serves as a source of professional advice and guidance to the Senate on matters relating to the quality, operation, and encouragement of graduate programs and research. To these ends, the Committee may be concerned with the procedures, criteria, and support of existing and new graduate programs within the University. The Committee may review and recommend policies and procedures relating to moral and ethical concerns of research and graduate studies and other matters involving the furtherance of research and graduate studies within the University.

d. Student Life Committee

The Committee will be concerned with significant educational, developmental, social, cultural, and recreational policies, programs, issues and services that affect the quality of student life and the campus environment of the State University of New York.

e. Undergraduate Academic Programs and Policies Committee

The Committee provides advice and guidance to the Senate on matters relating to undergraduate programs and policies throughout the University. To these ends, the Committee may review such areas as existing and proposed curricula, standards for academic degrees, teaching techniques and evaluation, special undergraduate programs, articulation among units of the State University of New York, and the various aspects of international education and development.

1. Fall Planning Meeting

Each September the University Faculty Senate holds a planning meeting attended by members of the Executive Committee, and members of standing committees. The Planning Meeting provides new committee members with an opportunity to be initiated into the policies, procedures, and operations of the Senate and its Committees. Whenever possible, the Chancellor of the University attends the meeting and provides an overview of issues of current concern to the University.

The agenda for the meeting also includes meetings between the Executive Committee and each of the Standing Committees. The purpose is to review the activities of the Senate planned for the year. The Committees plan their activities for the year according to a set of priorities determined in consultation with the Executive Committee.

Prior to adjournment, all committees meet together for a summary session with the Executive Committee. The chair of each committee reports on its major activities and priorities for the year.

2. Senate Plenary Meetings

Three Plenary Sessions of the University Faculty Senate each lasting two days, are held each academic year, in the fall, winter, and spring. Rotation among the campuses as sites for these meetings with each campus hosting a meeting approximately every ten years, provides an opportunity to visit other campuses. Senators receive electronic and/or paper materials approximately one month prior to each Plenary session. The host institution also provides information about the campus and surrounding area. The Faculty Senate office provides information on accommodations, directions, parking, etc. The host campus also makes provision for taping the entire Plenary.

Senate meetings include a session with the Chancellor with a question and answer period.

The Plenary Session agenda usually includes:

The President receives full released time from campus responsibilities and the Vice President/Secretary half-time release. Expenses of Senators to attend plenary sessions are the responsibility of their respective home campuses.

G. Official Observers

The Policies of the Board of Trustees (Article VII.A,2) denotes the Senate as the official agency through which the University Faculty engages in the governance of the University. In addition to its own deliberations and discussions of matters concerning governance, the Senate recognizes the need to communicate effectively with other constituencies and representatives of other governance bodies within SUNY. The Senate also enjoys an ongoing reciprocal relationship with the leadership of the community colleges and the Faculty Council of Community Colleges and the City University of New York Faculty Senate and the SUNY Student Assembly.
